Or select equivalent courses to be established by the program

¹ Choose from MALS special topics or graduate or upper-level courses with the aid of the student's advisor. Three of the six courses must meet the criteria of the Women's and Gender Studies concentration; that is, the topic, content, and approach to the course must be focused upon the study of women or gender relations. For example, MLS 445, MLS 467, MLS 474, MLS 477 and MLS 478 meet these criteria.

² The topic, content, and approach of the integrating project must be focused on the study of women or gender. A Women's Studies faculty member must advise the student throughout the project's development.
