About the Driehaus College of Business

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ About the Driehaus College of Business

Mission

The mission of the Driehaus College of Business is to promote learning, advance knowledge, and inform the business community. The college strives for an equal balance between teaching and pedagogical innovation on the one hand and research and scholarship on the other. We recognize the value of a broad range of research and scholarship, placing a high emphasis on discipline-based research while also valuing both contributions to practice and research to improve student learning. We engage our alumni to ensure the relevance of our programs and to foster job placement, networking, and lifelong learning.

The graduates of our programs are prepared to work in a diverse and rapidly changing global environment. Our undergraduate programs leverage our Vincentian heritage, urban location, and diverse student body to provide professionals who can add immediate value to Chicago area employers. Kellstadt graduate programs provide a source of outstanding academic and practical education that develops leaders for immediate contributions to a broad range of businesses and professions in Chicago, the nation, and the world.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ About the Driehaus College of Business □ The Driehaus College of Business and Chicago

The Driehaus College of Business and Chicago

For nearly a century, the Driehaus College of Business has been committed to an urban and a metropolitan identification and the recognition that its past, present, and future are linked inextricably to the stability and vitality of the city of Chicago. For students in the college, this means studying and working in Chicago, one of the most dynamic business and financial centers in the world. For graduates of the Driehaus College of Business, this means abundant career choices and opportunities after leaving DePaul. In this way, DePaul has been the developer of Chicago's leaders in business for over nine decades.

In February 2012, Business alumnus and Life Trustee Richard H. Driehaus made the largest gift in DePaul history to support faculty excellence in graduate and undergraduate business programs. In recognition of Mr. Driehaus' $30 million commitment, generosity, and vision, the University renamed the college in his honor as part of its centennial celebrations.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ About the Driehaus College of Business □ Admission

Admission

To succeed in the study of business, students must possess a number of academic qualities. Specifically, students must be able to think analytically and reason to valid conclusions relying on both quantitative and qualitative information. Particular attention is therefore given to the mathematical and verbal abilities of candidates.

About the School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems

Known for its innovative programs in accounting, the School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems has been a major source of graduates for professional accountancy and management information systems careers in public accounting, business and industry, and the public sector. The School is a member of the Federation of Schools of Accountancy, is one of the largest accountancy programs in the United States, and is separately accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business International.

The School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems strives to serve students, the public interest and professionals through teaching excellence, service and research. The School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems serves by: (1) providing qualified students through undergraduate and graduate degree programs with the education necessary to commence and continue their careers as professionals in public accounting, business and industry, and the public sector; (2) providing all students in the Driehaus College of Business with a fundamental knowledge of accounting and information systems as a vital element in the management of complex organizations; (3) providing the public with education in accounting and management information systems that serves needs including courses for continuing professional education and professional certification; and (4) promoting applied and theoretical research of significance to the accounting and management information systems professions.

The objectives of the Bachelor of Science in Business with a major in Accountancy, with a major in Management Information Systems, or with a major in E-Business are to provide students with a solid foundation in the theory, principles, and procedures of the discipline and professional practice of accountancy, including the study of financial, managerial and tax accounting as well as auditing and systems; to encourage and prepare students for professional certification; to foster an understanding of the profession of accountancy and its role in modern business environments; and to develop an awareness of the need for continuing intellectual development through either professional or academic means.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Accountancy □ Internships

Internships

The School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems maintains strong relations with the Chicago accounting and business communities, making possible a wide variety of credit and non-credit internship and part-time employment opportunities for School students. Options include:

- Internship listings: DePauls Career Center maintains a list of currently available opportunities from large and small businesses in the area for accounting majors. The list is available online at www.depaul.experience.com

- ACC 393: Provides students with academically-supervised professional work experience closely coordinated with course and curriculum content.
- Industry-sponsored programs: the School participates in ongoing internship programs (some of which include scholarships) sponsored by such firms as Abbott Laboratories, Deloitte, KPMG and PricewaterhouseCoopers.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Accountancy □ Strobel Honors Program

Strobel Honors Program

The designation Strobel Scholar is reserved for students of exceptional ability, achievement, and motivation in the School of Accountancy and Management Information Systems Strobel Honors Program. These students are characterized by outstanding academic records, high aptitudes for scholastic work, and reputations for leadership.

Special honors sections of accountancy courses are provided for Strobel Scholars every quarter as indicated in the quarterly class schedule. The content and structure of these honors sections are designed to appeal to the Strobel Scholar. Strobel Scholars proceed through the Program together, interacting with peers who have similar abilities. Learning and teaching concepts are advanced and student-oriented; small group activities and student presentations are used in honors sections. Students in the Strobel Scholars Program are expected to maintain high academic performance throughout the complete honors curriculum. Academic performance is reviewed at the end of each school year by the Administrator of the Strobel Scholars Program, Deloitte Professor John McEnroe. Outside speakers from the accounting and business communities are frequent visitors and participants.

The program is named after the late chair of the Accountancy Department, Eldred C. Strobel. Professor Strobel's distinguished career as an accounting educator spanned thirty-five years, fourteen of which were served as chair. Known for his support of innovative approaches to accounting education, he was the founder of the honors program, which now bears his name. Students majoring in the Strobel Honors Program must complete the following twelve courses for the major:

1. ACC 101H Introduction to Accounting I
2. ACC 102H Introduction to Accounting II
3. ACC 303H Managerial Accounting
4. ACC 304H Financial Reporting I
5. ACC 305H Financial Reporting II
6. ACC 306H Financial Reporting III
7. ACC 308H Advanced Financial Accounting
8. ACC 350H Information for Decision Making
9. ACC 372H Audit and Other Assurance Services I
10. ACC 374H Audit and Other Assurance Services II
11. ACC 380H Tax Treatment of Individuals and Property
12. ACC 383H Tax Treatment of Corporations and Partnerships

Courses marked with an H must be taken as specially designated Strobel Honors Program sections.

The courses listed above must be taken as honors sections by students in the Strobel program (with the exception of the recommended ACC 393, which is not offered as an honors section).

Strobel Honors students who are also accepted into the Finance Honors Program are not required to take ACC 307 Financial Reporting I for Finance Honors Students or ACC 309 Financial Reporting II for Finance Honors Students.

Courses in the Strobel sequence must be taken in the following order:

	Autumn	Winter	Spring
1st Year	ACC 101H	ACC 102H	ACC 303H

2nd Year	ACC 304H	ACC 305H	ACC 306H
3rd Year	ACC 372H	ACC 393 Recommended	ACC 374H ACC 380H
4th Year	ACC 383H	ACC 308H	ACC 350H

Admission to the Strobel Honors Program is by invitation only and is based on outstanding academic achievement in high school. Prior to being considered for the Strobel Honors Program, a student must be admitted to DePaul University and the Driehaus College of Business as a full-time, first-year, degree-seeking student.

Strobel Honors students may face dismissal from the honors track if they receive less than a B- in three Strobel accounting courses. This standard is designed to ensure that the academic excellence that the designation engenders is maintained.

Business Administration

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Business Administration

About the Business Administration Program

The Business Administration program is designed for those students who desire a broad-based business curriculum with a strong liberal arts foundation. This flexible program is geared to the student who has no strong functional preference (e.g. Accounting, Finance, Marketing) but rather desires an overall conceptual foundation. Students majoring in Business Administration might be preparing for law school, entering into a family business, or some other specialized purpose. The program has sufficient flexibility to meet the needs of each of these career orientations.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Business Administration □ Career Orientations

Career Orientations

Pre-Law

Consistent with developing the skills essential to a successful career in law, an education in business stresses an understanding of the background and operation of American business institutions. Courses in Accountancy, Economics, Finance, Management and Marketing are especially useful to the Pre-law student. Pre-law students should consult with the Pre-law advisor for recommendation with respect to which business and Liberal Studies courses would be essential to the study of law. Interested students should contact Alexander Devience, J.D., Pre-law advisor (adevienc1@depaul.edu , 312/362-6298).

Business Administration

The flexibility of the Business Administration curriculum enables students to develop a program of study in preparation for a variety of business careers. Students should consult with their advisors for recommendations with respect to which business courses would be most useful for their chosen career interests. Typically, graduates obtain entry-level positions in purchasing or quality control functions.

Economics

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Economics

About the Department of Economics

Economics analyzes the manner in which scarce resources are utilized to satisfy the wants and needs of people and society. The Economics Department offers courses that formulate, interpret, and explore ideas concerning such topics as unemployment, inflation, production and distribution, economic growth, and international economic relations. Courses emphasize the need for accurate knowledge of business institutions and economic phenomena, for theories capable of explaining these phenomena, for estimating relationships among economic variables, and for testing explanations. This analysis then forms the foundation for policy applications and recommendations on a wide range of issues.

Students learn to analyze economic data to identify and address problems that arise in a changing national and global economy, while studying the broader historical and social context in which economic relationships occur and economic policies are applied. In addition to economic theory and quantitative methods, courses cover a range of topics such as international trade, urban economics, economic history, the role of the government in the economy, money and banking, economic development, labor markets, poverty, environmental economics, and gender.

The department prepares students for careers in business, financial institutions, government and public service, graduate work in economics, and in other areas such as law and business administration.

DePaul offers Economics as both a major and minor field of study through both the Driehaus College of Business and the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences. In addition, the Department of Economics offers the Accelerated Bachelor-Master of Science in Economics and Policy Analysis that leads to completion of both the undergraduate and graduate degrees in five years.

Accelerated Bachelor-Master of Science in Economics and Policy Analysis

The Accelerated Bachelor-Master of Science in Economics and Policy Analysis program allows strong undergraduate economics majors to complete both the undergraduate degree with a major in Economics (either Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Business) and the MS-EPA in five years.

The MS in Economics and Policy Analysis gives students a distinguished and marketable set of skills in economic theory as it applies to policy analysis. In this thirteen course program, students learn how to conduct statistical and econometric research grounded in sound economic models using data from multiple sources on different policy issues. In addition, students will be able to explain their results and policy recommendations not only to economists, but also to non-economists, politicians, and the general public. MS-EPA graduates can find employment in the private sector working for corporations in governmental relations or business development departments, in government and government agencies, in trade associations or lobbying firms, or in not-for-profit advocacy groups.

In this course of study, students will:

- Develop a Masters level knowledge of microeconomic theory, macroeconomic theory, and international economics.
- Learn the economic and political functions of government and how the two functions interact with each other in the public sector.
- Learn to conduct econometric research collect, interpret, manipulate, and analyze policy-related data.
- Develop writing skills to communicate research findings to a variety of audiences including business professionals, economists, policy makers, and the public at large.
- Have the opportunity to participate in Congressional Research Fellowships which will give students hands-on experience in a policy making environment. The fellowships will also allow students to develop extensive career networks which lead to employment opportunities. Graduates can pursue careers in both the private and public sectors as analysts in trade associations, in business development and government relations departments, and in all levels of the public sector.

Undergraduate students will apply to the program during their junior year and will take three graduate level courses during their senior year. The three courses are ECO 505 Advanced Microeconomics, ECO 515 Microeconomics of Market Organization, and ECO 507 Research Methods for Policy Analysis I. These three courses will count towards completion of the BA with a major in Economics or BSC with a major in Economics and will also count towards completion of the MS-EPA. The undergraduate degree will be awarded at the completion of all undergraduate work while the MS-EPA will be awarded upon completion of the remaining graduate level work.

Additional details on eligibility for the accelerated program including the application process may be found online through the Department of Economics.

Additional information on the MS-EPA degree including course requirements may be found online in the Kellstadt Graduate School of Business course catalog.

Honors Track in Economics

The Honors Track in Economics is available to students completing the Bachelor of Science in Business with a major in Economics. It provides the opportunity to pursue a more challenging path of meeting degree requirements. In addition to maintaining a higher GPA, this path requires the demonstration of more quantitative and writing skills than the basic requirements for the Economics major. The student successfully completing this track would graduate with departmental honors.

Honors Track Requirements

1. Honors Track students must complete ECO 305 Intermediate Microeconomic Theory, ECO 306 Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory, and ECO 375 Introduction to Econometrics with a minimum grade of B- in each course.
2. Honors Track students must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.300 (B+ average) in all economics courses taken at DePaul.
3. Honors Track students must take at least one advanced economics elective (an ECO course that carries a prerequisite of ECO 305 Intermediate Microeconomic Theory, ECO 306 Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory, and/or ECO 375 Econometrics) and earn a minimum grade of B-. This requirement must be satisfied with a course taken at DePaul. Current courses meeting this requirement are ECO 311, 313, 314, 340 and ECO 398 Special Topics: Behavioral Economics.
4. Honors Track students must submit a paper written for any economics class that meets the following criteria: (a) the student earned a B+ or better on the paper; (b) the paper contained a literature review based on at least 5 sources; and (c) the paper was at least 10 pages OR used econometrics. This requirement must be satisfied using a paper from a course taken at DePaul. Students should contact the Director of the Undergraduate Economics Program for submission guidelines. The director position is currently held by Associate Professor Laura Owen, lowen@depaul.edu .

Invitation

Economics majors will be invited each term to participate in the Honors Track if they meet the following criteria:

- Have declared Economics as their major (or second major).
- Have completed ECO 305 Intermediate Microeconomic Theory and ECO 306 Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory with a minimum grade of B- in each course.
- Have a minimum GPA of 3.300 in all economics courses taken at DePaul.

Recommended Course Sequencing

Students interested in pursuing the Honors Track in Economics are advised to complete the following courses according to the sequence found below:

MAT 135, 136, and MAT 137	1st or 2nd Year
ECO 105 and ECO 106	1st or 2nd Year
ECO 305, ECO 306, and ECO 375	2nd or 3rd Year
Advanced Economics Electives (see criteria above)	3rd or 4th Year
Additional Economics Electives (3 required)	2nd through 4th Year
FIN 202 (may be replaced by a 5th Economics elective)	3rd or 4th Year

Finance

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Finance

About the Department of Finance

The Department of Finance is proud of its excellence in teaching and research and its close ties with the professional business community. With the help of our Finance Advisory Board, we have designed a state-of-the-art program in finance that is also intellectually rigorous. The curriculum provides you with a solid foundation in financial management. The sequence of courses that make up the curriculum provides for exposure to the nature and operations of the financial markets, financial analysis, and valuation. Building upon this foundation, you may expand your knowledge by taking elective courses in banking, risk management, international finance, portfolio management, and insurance. Finally, a required capstone course provides you with the opportunity to integrate your coursework into a cohesive body of knowledge, further your communication and presentation skills, and engage in teamwork. With the help of an academic advisor, you can specialize in various areas, such as investment management, derivatives, insurance, and banking.

Areas of Study

Corporate Financial Management: This emphasis prepares students for careers in the financial management area in any type of business or corporation.

Investment Analysis/Management: This emphasis is for students interested in financial markets, investment banking, and portfolio management.

Banking and Financial Services: This emphasis prepares students for careers in banking and in the financial services industry in general. These include commercial and consumer lending, credit analysis, leasing, and personal financial planning.

Risk Management: This emphasis prepares students for a career in the dynamic field of derivatives and risk management.

Faculty and Department Highlights

A distinguished faculty reflects unusual breadth and depth in knowledge and experience. Almost all hold doctorates from nationally recognized institutions. Among them are the editors and associate editors of leading academic journals, textbook authors, current and former executives of leading financial and non-financial firms, consultants to various businesses, and board members of financial institutions.

In addition to faculty expertise, students have the benefit of hearing outstanding guest lecturers. Roundtables and seminars sponsored by the Department and its centers of excellence bring distinguished speakers to campus, including Nobel Prize winners and other nationally recognized experts in the field of finance.

Unique Aspects

The Department of Finance is home to dedicated teachers who are also well recognized leaders in the academic world. Most members of the faculty have had significant work experience in key corporate positions prior to joining DePaul. Many are renowned scholars within their field of research and enjoy national and international reputations. They include well-published and often-cited researchers, authors of best selling textbooks and editors of highly respected academic journals. Most members of the faculty have either been awarded or been nominated for recognition as exceptional leaders.

The aims of the department are to provide opportunities for the development of learning abilities through instruction in basic and advanced courses; to provide a varied and flexible curriculum to expose Finance majors to all aspects of the finance functions and enable them to concentrate in areas of greatest individual appeal; to assist students to become aware of career opportunities for persons with a foundation in financial management; and to assist all students in the Driehaus College of Business to see the relationships and usefulness of a basic understanding of finance for their own areas of concentration. The department also offers an honors program for students choosing to major in Finance (see section on Finance Honors Program for requirements).

Centers and Chairs

The Center for Financial Services

The Center for Financial Services has been established to: support innovative undergraduate, graduate and post-graduate curricula in financial services; sponsor industry forums on financial service policymaking; develop financial literacy programs that benefit the community and provide industry-relevant research about national and international banking and financial service issues. William A. Obenshain is the executive director of this center. Visit <http://finance.depaul.edu/cfs> for more information.

The Christopher L. Keeley Endowed Chair in Investment Management

The generosity of the Keeley Family Foundation to the Center for Financial Services has helped to establish an endowed chair housed within the Center for Financial Services. The Keeley Chair conducts research and coordinates the new center's industry outreach in order to create a nationally competitive investment management education program at DePaul. Professor James Booth has been the holder of the Christopher L. Keeley Endowed Chair since 2008.

The Fred Arditti Center for Risk Management

Through the generosity of Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME) Trust a grant has been donated to the Fred

Arditti Center for Risk Management that honors the lifetime achievements of Fred Arditti to the field of risk management and financial engineering. The center commemorates the outstanding contributions of Fred Arditti, both to the theory and the practice of risk management. The center sponsors quarterly risk management seminars and roundtables. Professor Carl Luft is the Academic Director of the Center and Jim Prieur acts as its Executive Director. Visit <http://finance.depaul.edu/arditti> for more information.

The Richard H. Driehaus Chair and Center in Behavioral Finance

Through the generosity of Richard H. Driehaus and Driehaus Lead Trust, an endowed chair and a center for behavioral finance have been established in the support of an innovative, interdisciplinary field that examines the psychology of investing and financial markets. Professor Werner DeBondt, Ph.D., has been named Chair and Director of the Center as of autumn 2002. Visit <http://behavioralfinance.depaul.edu> for more information.

Dr. William M. Scholl Chair in Finance

Through the generosity of the Scholl Foundation, this endowed chair was established for a nationally recognized scholar in the field of financial management. Professor Keith M. Howe, Ph.D., has been holder of the Scholl Chair since 1986.

Scholarships

The Campbell Finance Scholarships

Each spring, the Finance Department awards several Brian Campbell Finance Scholarships to finance majors who will be graduating seniors at the start of the following academic year. Each scholarship award of $8,000 is paid one-third per term for tuition and fees. Finance majors must be enrolled in a minimum of twelve credit hours per quarter and apply in writing to the department chairman by the end of winter quarter of their junior year. An overall GPA of 3.200 and a Finance GPA of 3.500 is required for consideration. Eligible students may be interviewed by the Finance faculty.

The Guy Accetura Scholarship

The Guy Accetura Scholarship in Finance is given in the amount of $2,000. The award procedure requires the same application as Campbell Scholarships and will be considered at the same time by the scholarship committee.

The Circle Of Finance Opportunities Scholarship Fund

The CFO Scholarships, funded by the Finance Department Alumni, are awarded to students who have demonstrated academic excellence and who have performed volunteer work on behalf of the Department. The recipients will be selected by a committee of faculty and CFO Officers.

The Richard H. Driehaus Scholarship

The Richard H. Driehaus Scholarship is awarded to students planning a career in the field of money management. The criteria used to evaluate students include need, junior standing, and academic performance. Applicants are required to submit a one-page essay on their motives and plans for entering the field of money management.

The Finance Advisory Board Scholarship Fund

The FAB Scholarships, funded by the contributions of Finance Advisory Board members, are awarded to Finance majors who have exhibited excellence in their academic work. Evidence of engagement in leadership activities is also viewed favorably by the Faculty Committee evaluating the applicants.

The Jim Borowitz Memorial Scholarship

The Jim Borowitz Memorial Scholarship, funded by the Borowitz family and donors to the Memorial Fund, is awarded in memory of Jim Borowitz, a long-time member of the Finance Advisory Board and an Executive In Residence in the Department of Finance. It is awarded on the basis of academic standing.

The Ann Drennan and Gary Kohler Scholarship

The Ann Drennan and Gary Kohler Scholarship is awarded to Finance majors who have exhibited excellence in their academic work. Evidence of engagement in leadership activities is also viewed favorably by the Faculty Committee evaluating the applicants.

The Thomas Kewley Award

The Thomas Kewley Award is awarded to students making satisfactory progress toward degree completion who may benefit by taking an extra course or reducing work hours thereby expediting graduation.

The Eric & Christine Larsen Endowed Scholarship

The Eric and Christine Larsen Endowed Scholarship will be awarded to a first generation Driehaus College of Business student majoring in Finance. The student must be in good academic standing and demonstrate financial need.

The John Lump Scholarship

The John Lump Scholarship in Finance is given in the amount of $2,500. The award will be given to an undergraduate student majoring in Finance who exhibits financial need and who is in good academic standing.

The Fred Mueller Memorial Scholarship

The Fred Mueller Memorial Scholarship, funded by the Finance Department, is awarded in memory of Fred Mueller for his influence on the professional and academic development of his students. Applicants should submit evidence of outstanding academic accomplishments, relevant work or internship experience, and junior standing.

The Eugene Muldoon Memorial Scholarship

The Eugene Muldoon Memorial Scholarship, funded by the Finance Department, is awarded in memory of Eugene Muldoon for his influence on the professional and academic development of his students. Applicants should submit evidence of outstanding academic accomplishments, relevant work or internship experience, and junior standing.

The Bill Poppei Endowed Scholarship

The Bill Poppei Endowed Scholarship in Finance was established in honor of the Departments most admired teachers through the generous contribution of his former students. It is awarded annually to students with distinguished academic accomplishments.

Driehaus Virtual Portfolio Competition

The annual Driehaus Virtual Portfolio competition is designed to stimulate student interest in investment portfolio management, promote the spirit of teamwork and healthy business competition, and emphasize the importance of research in investment decision-making. The annual competition is sponsored by Richard Driehaus, chairman of Driehaus Capital Management.

Student teams manage a virtual investment portfolio using an online trading system. Teams are evaluated on their management of a portfolio according to their adherence to a stated investment strategy, rationale for stock selection, compliance with the competition's guideline and risk-adjusted portfolio performance. Applications are accepted in spring quarter for the following academic year. Visit the Driehaus Virtual Portfolio online for more information.

Thomas J. & Diane K. Allison Case Competition

The case competition challenges teams of students in the finance program's capstone course, Cases in Financial Decision Making, to prepare a written report analyzing a business case and defend their analysis before a panel of professionals and faculty. The top three teams receive cash prizes of $2,500, $1,500, and $1,000 respectively.

Internships

Finance 393 provides students with an academically-supervised, professional experience in a major financial institution. Students who wish to take FIN 393 must have a minimum 2.800 cumulative GPA at the time of application. Prerequisite: FIN 310. Please visit the Department of Finance online for additional information and the application form.

Finance Lab

The department has a state-of-the-art trading room that is fully equipped with data feeds, newswire services, analytical tools, and trading and risk management platforms. These include Morningstar Direct, Morningstar Advisor, Morningstar Encore, Bloomberg, Barra, Thompson Financial, Capital IQ and Aspen Graphics. With these capabilities, the room provides our graduate and undergraduate students the ability to acquire hands on experience and knowledge essential to their success in an ever changing landscape of financial services

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Finance ▢ Finance Honors Program

Finance Honors Program

The honors program in finance is reserved for students of high promise and exceptional ability. Students admitted to this program are characterized by outstanding academic performance, exceptional leadership capability, high aptitude for superior academic work and exceptional ability for making meaningful contributions during a professional career.

Honors students in finance proceed through the program together in a cohort system with peers who have similar exceptional abilities. Courses reserved for honors students are advanced in nature, student-oriented, and small. Students in the program are afforded the opportunity to interact with leaders from finance and business communities in small settings.

Admission to the honors program in finance is dependent on a student's academic performance through the winter quarter of the junior year. The honors program requires that students have (1) an overall GPA of 3.300 or better; (2) earned a B+ or better in FIN 310; and (3) have officially declared finance as a major. Students with an overall GPA of 3.300 and a minimum grade of B+ in FIN 310 may apply for admission into the program. The admissions committee will consider the students GPA, grade in FIN 310 as well as other evidence of superior academic performance for admission into the program. Once admitted, students will begin the curriculum in the spring quarter of the current academic year, and will complete the curriculum in the winter quarter of the following year. A cumulative GPA of 3.000 is required to remain in the program. A student will be dropped from the program if a grade of D or F is earned in any DePaul course after admission to the program.

The finance honors curriculum consists of: FIN 311-H Honors Corporate Finance; FIN 330-H Honors Investments: Theory and Practice; FIN 333-H Honors Financial Statements Analysis; FIN 362-H Honors Risk Management; FIN 366-H Honors Financial Modeling; FIN 380-H Honors Cases in Financial Decision Making; ACC 307-H Finance Honors Financial Accounting I; ACC 309-H Finance Honors Financial Accounting II. The remaining requirements for the Finance Honors Program include FIN 202 and FIN 320. Honors students are also required to participate in a two credit hour Honors Seminar course, Finance 396, during the spring quarter of their junior year, autumn quarter of their senior year, and winter quarter of their senior year. Accounting majors who have taken the financial accounting courses, ACC 304 and ACC 305, are exempt from taking the financial accounting courses taught within the finance cohort, ACC 307-H and ACC 309-H.

The structure is similar to the non-honors curriculum since it includes Finance 310 and Finance 320 in addition to the courses mentioned above. This structure differs from the non-honors curriculum since it allows you to take only two open electives in your curriculum, and it requires you to take an extra two credit hour class, Finance 396.

Candidates for the honors program may take FIN 310 and FIN 320 during their junior year. FIN 311 and FIN 330 are included in the honors curriculum and should not be taken before entering the honors program. Students are urged to complete FIN 310 during the autumn term of their junior year, and to complete FIN 320 and FIN 202 during the winter quarter of their junior year. Students who take FIN 310 during the winter quarter may be accepted into the honors program contingent upon earning a minimum grade of B+ in FIN 310. Students who are accepted on a contingent basis, but who fail to meet the FIN 310 B+ standard, will not be permitted to participate in the honors program. Honors students who have not completed FIN 320 and FIN 202 before the spring quarter may be granted permission to take FIN 320 during the spring quarter and FIN 202 during the summer. Both courses must be completed before the following autumn quarter. Students who do not complete both courses before the autumn quarter will not be permitted to continue in the honors program.

Below is a suggested curriculum which provides a course structure designed to prepare those interested in applying to the Finance Honors Program in the winter quarter of their junior year.

Suggested Finance Honors Curriculum Course Sequence

The cohort instruction begins in the spring and ends the following winter. The finance courses and accounting courses will be taught in the afternoon once per week, or on Friday mornings, in three hour sessions. The seminar course is a two credit hour course that will meet over the spring, autumn, and winter terms every other Wednesday afternoon. All honors students will take all classes at the scheduled times. There are no exceptions.

The classes reserved exclusively for honors students are the following:

Spring Quarter (Junior Year)

- ACC 307 Financial Reporting I
- FIN 311 Corporate Finance
- FIN 330 Investments: Theory and Practice
- FIN 396 Honors Seminar

Autumn Quarter (Senior Year)

- ACC 309 Financial Reporting II
- FIN 333 Financial Statements Analysis

- FIN 362 Risk Management
- FIN 366 Financial Modeling
- FIN 396 Honors Seminar (continued)

Winter Quarter (Senior Year)

- FIN 380 Cases in Financial Decision Making
- FIN 396 Honors Seminar (continued)

During the program, honors students are required to stay enrolled in the two hour Honors Seminar, FIN 396 .

Expectations

The program consists of a set of courses taught in lock step during the junior and senior years. The honors student cohort will be exposed to rigorous and challenging courses in corporate finance, risk management, financial statement analysis, and financial accounting. Analytical writing and teamwork skills will be emphasized throughout the program.

Benefits

Among the advantages of the honors program are better exposure to corporate recruiters, greater interaction with financial executives, priority enrollment, and greater assistance developing resumes and interviewing skills.

Qualifications

Students who qualify for the honors program have:

- 3.300 cumulative GPA
- Completion of Finance 310 with a B+ or better

Hospitality Leadership

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Hospitality Leadership

About the School of Hospitality Leadership

Based in DePaul's Driehaus College of Business, the School offers programs in hospitality leadership to prepare students for leadership roles at hotels, restaurants, private clubs, convention and tourism venues, spas and related leisure industries. Fundraising continues to support plans to add graduate degrees, a research center and continuing education initiatives.

In addition to targeting traditional undergraduates, the program supports DePaul's history of educating adult and non-traditional students. It seeks to enroll qualified Chicago hospitality workers who want to move into management but lack the educational credentials to do so.

Scholarships

Samuel I. Bailin Memorial Endowed Scholarship

The Samuel I. Bailin Memorial Endowed Scholarship has been created to honor Mr. Bailin, a pioneer in the food-service supply-chain industry. He was honored in the Frozen Food Hall of Fame, and is widely recognized as having a major impact on the food distribution industry. This fund was created to support students pursuing a similar career path.

Eligibility: Consideration for this scholarship shall be given to undergraduate students enrolled in the School of Hospitality Leadership who exhibit financial need and are in good academic standing. Additional consideration may be given to students considering a career in food service management and/or supply-chain operations or a similar field. The Samuel I. Bailin Memorial Endowed Scholarship will be awarded twice annually and is renewable.

School Of Hospitality Leadership Scholarships

Due to the generous gift from the Hilton Foundation and other supporting friends of DePaul, the School of Hospitality Leadership is fortunate to provide students with an abundance of scholarships directly from the program. These scholarships are in addition to any other grants or financial support that a student may have secured. Students enrolled as majors, or intended majors, in the School of Hospitality Leadership are encouraged to apply for additional scholarship funding. There are three different types of funding categories: academic merit, financial need, and international program funding.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Hospitality Leadership ▢ Hospitality Leadership Concentrations

Hospitality Leadership Concentrations

A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must select and complete at least one Hospitality Leadership concentration totaling at least 12.0 hours as part of the major requirements. Minors offered by the School of Hospitality Leadership also have concentration-specific requirements: refer to the sections Minors for Business Students and Minors for Non-Business Students for details.

Private Club Management

This field of study is about the management of membership clubs. The many different types of clubs that need managers include city clubs, country clubs, golf clubs, athletic clubs, yacht clubs, faculty clubs, town clubs, and military clubs. As membership-based organizations, the customers and staff are often in regular contact, sometimes on a weekly or monthly basis. Learning how to create engaging programs to satisfy member interest is a key challenge in this industry. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete the following requirements when this concentration is chosen:

- HSP 320 Club Management
- HSP 321 Food Production Management (2.0 hours)
- HSP 322 Quantity Food Management (2.0 hours)
- One more course to be chosen from:
 - HSP 323 Advanced Club Management
 - HSP 332 Beverage Management
 - HSP 333 International Wine Education & Management
 - HSP 352 Special Event Management
 - HSP 381 Hospitality Risk Management
 - HSP 398 Special Topics: Hospitality Leadership
 - HSP 399 Independent Study (with approval)
 - MGT 340 Leadership in Sports: Lessons for Coaching in the Workplace
 - MGT 356 Sports Management

Food & Beverage Management

Students can prepare for leadership careers in restaurants, contract food companies (industrial and commercial settings), catering, and bar/beverage organizations by completing this concentration. The focus of the coursework is upon the development of strong managerial skills in the leadership of foodservice operations rather than culinary expertise. Students are strongly encouraged to complete at least one internship in the 'back of the house' (kitchen) in order to gain an understanding of culinary operations. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete the following requirements when this concentration is chosen:

- HSP 330 Foodservice Management
- Two courses to be chosen from:
 - HSP 331 Foodservice Purchasing
 - HSP 332 Beverage Management
 - HSP 333 International Wine Education & Management
 - HSP 334 Contract Foodservice Management
 - HSP 352 Special Event Management
 - HSP 372 Global Hospitality Brand Management
 - HSP 373 International Hospitality Franchising
 - HSP 381 Hospitality Risk Management
 - HSP 398 Special Topics: Hospitality Leadership
 - HSP 399 Independent Study (with approval)

Lodging Management

Hotels, motels, inns, bed & breakfast, resorts, cruises, etc., or anywhere that people sleep away from home is included in this concentration. This field includes the management of all of the various facilities and amenities found at modern lodging facilities: sleeping rooms, restaurants, bars, meetings & events, catering, recreation facilities, business centers, etc., in a wide range of environments. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete the following requirements when this concentration is chosen:

- HSP 340 Lodging Property Management
- Two courses to be chosen from:
 - HSP 341 Resort & Spa Management
 - HSP 342 Time Share Management
 - HSP 343 Casino Management
 - HSP 350 Meeting Management
 - HSP 372 Global Hospitality Brand Management
 - HSP 373 International Hospitality Franchising
 - HSP 381 Hospitality Risk Management
 - HSP 398 Special Topics: Hospitality Leadership
 - HSP 399 Independent Study (with approval)

Event Management

This dynamic and fast growing field includes the management of meetings, events, and tradeshow for organizations and facilities. Career paths include corporate planning, association planning, special event companies, and intermediaries or third party planning companies. Most common types of meetings and events planned by these professionals include: product launches, business meetings, conventions, tradeshows, customer events, and special events. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete the following requirements when this concentration is chosen:

- HSP 350 Meeting Management
- Two more courses to be chosen from:
 - HSP 351 Destination Management
 - HSP 352 Special Event Management
 - HSP 353 Exhibition Management
 - HSP 354 Meeting & Event Risk Management
 - HSP 355 Advanced Meeting Management
 - HSP 398 Special Topics: Hospitality Leadership
 - HSP 399 Independent Study (with approval)

Non-Profit Hospitality Leadership

Food and overnight accommodations are often part of a social service network offered by a community. Examples include soup kitchens, shelters for battered women and children, support centers for the homeless, disaster relief efforts, etc. The purpose of this concentration is to provide social service providers with the necessary knowledge to operate hospitality venues in a safe, clean and financially viable yet non-profit manner. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete the following requirements when this concentration is chosen:

- HSP 339 Non-Profit Foodservice Management
- HSP 349 Non-Profit Accommodation, Safety and Security
- HSP 331 Foodservice Purchasing

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Hospitality Leadership □ Hospitality Leadership Specializations

Hospitality Leadership Specializations

A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must select and complete at least one Hospitality Leadership specialization totaling at least 12.0 hours as part of the major requirements. Minors offered by the School of Hospitality Leadership do not require a specialization.

Leadership

This specialization is designed for the student who wishes to build a career in the daily operations of the business. The coursework focus is upon human development, including advanced concepts in leadership, how to manage both people and a business in concert with labor unions, techniques in the training and development of the staff, etc. Students desiring to study leadership are required to complete the first two courses listed below and then select one elective from the choices offered:

- MGT 360 Leadership
- HSP 382 Managing with Hospitality Unions
- One more course chosen from
 - MGT 320 Training and Career Development
 - MGT 322 The Management & Measurement of Quality
 - MGT 361 Organizational Development
 - MGT 373 Creativity & Entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship

Opening a small business, such as a restaurant or a meeting planning service, is the goal of many students. Aspiring entrepreneurs should select this specialization to help them plan in advance for the start of their new enterprise. As the range of small business opportunities is vast, students have great flexibility in choosing a set of three courses that best fits his or her needs. Choices include offerings from both the Management and Marketing departments where students will be able to use their individual concepts as the focus of much of the coursework. A total of three courses is required from the two lists shown below:

- Two courses chosen from:

- MGT 360 Leadership
- MGT 370 Business Plan Development
- MGT 373 Creativity & Entrepreneurship,
- One more course chosen from the list above or:
 - MGT 345 Service Sector Management
 - MGT 393 Internship & Management Consulting Program
 - HSP 399 Independent Study (with approval)
 - MKT 352 New Product Management
 - MKT 377 Fundamentals of Sales and Networking

Hospitality Real Estate

The millions of hotels and restaurants around the world operate in buildings that sit on pieces of land. With franchising a common business practice in these industries, who owns the building or the land is often someone different from who operates the business. Thus, the buying and selling of the real estate (building and land) is a key factor in the hospitality business. Experts are needed who understand the relationship between real estate transactions and the operations of hotels and restaurants. To gain this needed knowledge, a total of three classes is required as listed below:

- Required:
 - RE 350 Real Estate Analysis
- Two courses to be chosen from:
 - RE 300 Real Estate Law
 - RE 320 Planning and Public Policy
 - RE 352 Real Estate Finance
 - RE 353 Real Estate Investment
 - RE 354 Real Estate Valuation
 - RE 398 Special Topics in Real Estate (multiple topics may be used)

If chosen, RE 352 and RE 353 must be taken in sequential order following RE 350.

Revenue Management

Similar to the tactics airlines use to offers seats and flight ticket prices, hotels seek to maximize revenue through the careful process of offering rooms at various price points through different distribution channels. This focus on managing the revenue stream has become a central role in the operation of the hotel. Managers are needed who understand the concepts of pricing, human behavior, forecasting demand, and the distribution channels through which hotel reservations are made available. Students are required to complete the two courses listed below plus one additional elective from the choices offered:

- HSP 360 Hospitality Pricing
- HSP 361 Yield Management
- One more course chosen from:
 - HSP 362 Global Distribution Systems
 - HSP 371 Customer Relationship Management

Sales Leadership

Selling to groups of people, whether for business or pleasure, is an integral part of the hospitality business. Corporations send legions of managers to meetings and conventions, and to call upon customers for sales and service purposes. Travel agencies design package tours that are open to the general public. Families celebrate weddings, anniversaries, and other special events. All of these activities involve the negotiation and coordination of groups of people who often want food to eat, places to meet, and rooms in which to sleep. This specialization helps students prepare for careers in the art of selling to these groups through the completion of the following three courses:

- MKT 377 Fundamentals of Sales and Networking
- MKT 379 Leadership in Sales Organizations
- MKT 383 Advanced Valuations for Business

Virtual Marketing

The Internet and social media tools such as Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, etc., have created marketing opportunities for businesses. Hospitality firms need help in harnessing this power of digital marketing. In addition, the preponderance of customer loyal programs, such as frequent diner points at restaurants and frequent stay points at hotels, has added to the complexity of strategic marketing plans. This specialization in virtual marketing helps students prepare for challenging marketing careers through the completion of the three courses listed below:

- HSP 371 Customer Relationship Management
- MKT 395 Interactive/Internet Marketing
- MKT 398 Special Topics: Social Media

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▢ Hospitality Leadership ▢ Hospitality Leadership Milestones

Hospitality Leadership Milestones

The Hospitality Leadership Milestones are independent activities that a student majoring in Hospitality Leadership must complete prior to graduation. Minors offered by the School of Hospitality Leadership do not require milestone completion unless otherwise noted.

ServSafe Alcohol Certification or TIPS

These two certifications are equivalent industry standards in the proper handling of alcohol and spirits. Students are to complete one of the two certifications and submit proof of completion to the School of Hospitality Leadership anytime prior to graduation. The exams may be found at <http://www.servsafe.com/alcohol> and <http://gettips.com>. Only one of these two alcohol-handling certifications is required.

ServSafeŽ Manager Certification

This certification is a standard in the Food & Beverage industry and students can use it to strengthen their individual credentials. Every U.S. foodservice outlet must have at least one manager who holds this certification. The focus is upon risk and sanitation concerns in foodservice operations. Students are to complete the standardized exam found at <http://www.servsafe.com> and submit proof of completion to the School of Hospitality Leadership anytime prior to graduation.

HSP 207 must be completed by students majoring in Hospitality Leadership and replaces BLW 201 in the Business Core.

ICS 396 must be completed by students majoring in Hospitality Leadership and replaces ICS 394 and/or ICS 395 in the Business Core.

Details on the Concentration, Specialization, and Milestone requirements may be found in the sections Hospitality Leadership Concentrations, Hospitality Leadership Specializations, and Hospitality Leadership Milestones.

Degree Conferral Requirements

A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership will typically require an additional 6.0 hours of Open Elective credit to earn the minimum 192.0 hours required for the degree.

All HSP courses and any courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Hospitality Leadership □ Minors for Business Students

Minors for Business Students

Declaration Requirements

To declare a minor in Hospitality Leadership, a Driehaus student must meet the following requirements:

- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 2.500
- A minimum Hospitality Leadership grade point average of 2.000
- No grades of IN, R, or lower than C- in any Hospitality Leadership course
- Completion of HSP 100 or HSP 201 with a minimum grade of C-

A Driehaus student may not complete both the Hospitality Leadership and the Revenue Management minors; only one of the two may be completed. A Driehaus student may complete the Non-Profit Hospitality Leadership minor in addition to either the Hospitality Leadership or Revenue Management minor.

Course Requirements

A Driehaus student minoring in Hospitality Leadership is required to complete the following courses based on the minor chosen:

Hospitality Leadership Minor

The focus of this minor is to give Driehaus students a broad exposure to the scale and scope of the hospitality industry, and to enable students to explore one major sector, such as lodging, event management, food & beverage, or private club management, in some depth. Students who have been admitted to the college may earn a minor in Hospitality Leadership by completing the requirements listed below totaling at least 16.0 hours:

- HSP 2 Delivering Global Hospitality Service Levels (0 hours)
- HSP 100 Introduction to Hospitality
- HSP 201 International Hospitality Service & Experience Management (2.0 hours)
- HSP 202 Hospitality Business Operations (2.0 hours)
- 4.0 hours specific to the chosen Hospitality Leadership concentration:
 - For Private Club Management : HSP 320 Club Management
 - For Food & Beverage Management : HSP 330 Foodservice Management
 - For Lodging Management : HSP 340 Lodging Property Management
 - For Event Management : HSP 350 Meeting Management
- 4.0 additional hours from the chosen Hospitality Leadership concentration

HSP 2 is taken on a PA/F grading basis

Non-Profit Hospitality Leadership Minor

Food and overnight accommodations are often part of a social service network offered by a community. Examples include soup kitchens, shelters for battered women and children, support centers for the homeless, disaster relief efforts, etc. The purpose of this minor is to provide social service providers with the necessary knowledge to operate hospitality venues in a safe, clean and financially viable yet non-profit manner. Students who have been admitted to Driehaus may earn a minor in Non-Profit Hospitality Leadership by completing the requirements listed below totaling at least 20.0 hours:

- HSP 201 International Hospitality Service & Experience Management (2.0 hours)
- HSP 203 Hospitality Leadership Forum I (2.0 hours)
- HSP 207 Hospitality Law and Ethics
- HSP 331 Foodservice Purchasing
- HSP 339 Non-Profit Foodservice Management
- HSP 349 Non-Profit Accommodation, Safety & Security

Revenue Management Minor

The hospitality industry has an ongoing need for managers skilled in the science and art of forecasting demand. Similar to the tactics of the airlines in pricing and seat allocation, Revenue Management is a business practice that applies theories of pricing and statistics to patterns of lodging room sales and advance reservations. Knowledge of pricing theory, trend analysis, distribution channels, and customer relationship management (CRM) are key tenets. Students who have been admitted to Driehaus may earn a minor in Revenue Management by completing the requirements listed below totaling at least 22.0 hours:

- HSP 100 Introduction to Hospitality
- HSP 202 Hospitality Business Operations (2.0 hours)
- HSP 340 Lodging Property Management
- HSP 360 Hospitality Pricing
- HSP 361 Yield Management
- One course to be chosen from:
 - HSP 362 Global Distribution Systems
 - HSP 371 Customer Relationship Management

Degree Conferral Requirements

All HSP courses and any courses used toward the Hospitality Leadership minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- (or PA where specified) and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

- A minimum Hospitality Leadership grade point average of 2.000
- No grades of IN, R, or lower than C- in any Hospitality Leadership course
- Completion of HSP 100 or HSP 201 with a minimum grade of C-

A non-Driehaus student may complete both the Hospitality Leadership and Non-Profit Hospitality Leadership minors.

Course Requirements

A non-Driehaus student minoring in Hospitality Leadership is required to complete the following courses based on the minor chosen:

Hospitality Leadership Minor

The focus of this minor is to give students who are not enrolled in the Driehaus College of Business a broad exposure to the scale and scope of the hospitality industry, and to enable students to explore one major sector, such as lodging, event management, food & beverage, or private club management, in some depth. Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies

About Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies

Using an interdisciplinary framework, the Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies courses integrate Liberal Arts coursework with business coursework as a foundation for development of communication, analytical, cross-cultural and global business skills. The ICS department houses the Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies series and the International Business Seminar series.

The ICS program is coordinated by a faculty advisory committee.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies □ Senior Year Requirements

Senior Year Requirements

Students must take ICS 392 Senior Capstone and either ICS 394 Entrepreneurship Strategy or ICS 395 Management Strategy. These courses serve as a capstone senior-year experience. Course content is designed to equip students to deal proactively with the changing world.

ICS 392 Senior Capstone serves as the capstone for the students Liberal Studies Program and integrates aspects of the students Liberal Arts and business studies. The seminar enhances students verbal, written and interpersonal communication skills while increasing their facility to work in a society characterized by cultural, racial and ethnic diversity.

The strategy courses, ICS 394 Entrepreneurship Strategy or ICS 395 Management Strategy, are capstone courses in the students Business Core program. These courses integrate the business disciplines and provide opportunities to address organization-wide issues.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Interdisciplinary Commerce Studies □ International Business Seminars

International Business Seminars

The Driehaus College of Business along with the Study Abroad Program (<http://studyabroad.depaul.edu>) coordinate a number of international business seminars for undergraduate academic credit during the academic breaks. These seminars study specific countries or regions with a focus on comparative global and local business practices. Classes are held at DePaul prior to departure for the country or region in which the course is located. The seminar format allows for formal and informal company visits in the host location. The duration of seminars range from seven to fourteen days. Past seminars have taken place in Australia, China, Cuba, Czech Republic, Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, India, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Scandinavia, South Africa, Spain and Thailand. Future seminar locations may vary.

For details on the current seminar options, please visit <http://studyabroad.depaul.edu> , call 773-325-7450 or email abroad@depaul.edu .

International Business

Minor for Business Students

The International Business minor is available to Driehaus College of Business students only. A student must be able to demonstrate that he or she has modern language proficiency through the intermediate level of college coursework to complete the minor.

Declaration Requirements

To declare a minor in International Business, a Driehaus student must meet the following requirements:

- Completion of 28.0 hours at DePaul University
- The following courses must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher: ACC 101, ACC 102, BLW 201 (or HSP 207 for Hospitality Leadership majors), ECO 105, ECO 106, MAT 135, MAT 136, and MAT 137
- A minimum cumulative DePaul grade point average of 2.000
- No grade of IN, R, or lower than C- in any course used toward the International Business minor

Course Requirements

The minor consists of six to nine courses:

- One course chosen from ECO 333, ECO 361, ECO 362, or PSC 344
- Two international business courses (list below)
- Three to six modern language and/or area studies courses (related to the language being studied)

The exact mix of language and area studies courses is determined by the students starting level in the modern language.

1. For a student with limited language background who does not place out of any college level language course, two years of college level language instruction (six courses through the intermediate level) are required.
2. For a student who places out of one or more of the college language courses, he/she will start the language sequence at the appropriate placement and continue it through the intermediate level of instruction. If the student needs fewer than three language courses to complete the intermediate sequence, the student will take either advanced language or area studies courses to complete the minimum three course language/area studies requirement.

Examples of language/area studies mix:

1. A Driehaus student wishing to pursue the IB minor tests out of SPN 101 and SPN 102. The student begins language instruction in SPN 103 (which completes the introductory sequence), and then continues with the intermediate sequence of SPN 104/105/106. The student completes the minor with the 3 international economics/business requirements plus the 4 language courses, for a total of seven courses.
2. A Driehaus student wishing to pursue the IB minor tests out of SPN 101/102/103/104. The student begins language instruction in SPN 105 and completes the intermediate sequence with SPN 106. Because the student has taken only two courses to complete the intermediate sequence, he/she will take an additional advanced language or area studies course to complete the minimum 3 course language/area studies requirement. Along with the 3 international economics/business requirements, this student can complete the minor with a total of six courses.

International Economics/Business Courses

Three course requirement

For the IB minor, a student must take one course from the following list of four:

1. ECO 333 Topics in Global Economics
2. ECO 361 International Trade
3. ECO 362 International Monetary Economics
4. PSC 344 International Political Economy

Students then select two other IB courses from the following list (cannot double count the course taken from the above list):

- ECO 316 European Economic History
- ECO 330 The Economics of Socialism
- ECO 333 Topics in Global Economics
- ECO 334 Understanding Chinas Economy
- ECO 360 Economics of Low-Income Countries
- ECO 361 International Trade
- ECO 362 International Monetary Economics
- ECO 398 Special Topics: Comparative Economic Systems (this topic only)
- FIN 340 International Finance
- FIN 398 Special Topics: Islamic Banking (this topic only)
- ICS 350 International Business Seminar
- MGT 357 International Business
- MKT 340 Marketing Across Cultures
- MKT 358 Marketing in a Global Environment (available only to IME Marketing majors)
- MKT 360 International Marketing

Degree Requirements

All courses used toward the International Business minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C- and with a combined GPA of 2.000 or higher.

Management

About the Department of Management

Welcome to the Department of Management, a vibrant community of scholars, students and staff dedicated to the pursuit of improving management skills in the workplace. The department is a very diverse home for the study of a number of specialized areas: entrepreneurship, human resources management, leadership, production and operations management, and sports management.

We emphasize tackling relevant issues for todays manager: managing in the global economy, ethical and socially responsible decision-making, managing for total quality, employee empowerment, leadership, team performance and compensation, new venture creation, and conflict resolution.

Management majors are typically hired for positions as business analysts, account executives, assistant managers, operations managers, HR managers, employment interviewers, and consultants.

Our entrepreneurship curriculum offers programs designed for those interested in someday starting their own business.

We have an experienced and enthusiastic faculty, one with an interest in sharing a vision of management that our students and alumni can spread throughout Chicago, and the rest of the world.

Centers and Chairs

The Center For Creativity & Innovation

Managing creativity and innovation is considered by Fortune 500 companies as one of the most admirable characteristics for employees, executive teams, and investors. The Center for Creativity & Innovation helps individuals and teams to become more creative in problem solving, and enables organizations to surmount the barriers to creativity that stand between performance and successful innovation. The Center sponsors workshops, seminars, and a variety of programs for the internal and external DePaul communities. Dr. Lisa Gundry is the Center's director.

The Coleman Entrepreneurship Center

The Coleman Entrepreneurship Center provides consulting services to students who are aspiring entrepreneurs or are already running their own businesses. In addition, the CEC conducts a wide variety of seminars and workshops in which students learn about the start-up process, practical challenges that entrepreneurs face, and specific strategies and tactics entrepreneurs employ to be more successful. Its most popular student program is S.Y.O.B. (Start Your Own Business), a two-hour workshop that covers business plans, the steps necessary to start a business, and how most small businesses are financed.

Coleman Foundation Endowed Chair in Entrepreneurship

Through the generosity of the Coleman Foundation an endowed chair was established for a nationally recognized scholar in the field of entrepreneurship. Professor Harold P. Welsch, Ph.D., has been the holder of the endowed chair since September of 1989.

The Institute For Business & Professional Ethics

Founded in 1985, The Institute for Business & Professional Ethics (IBPE) was established as a joint effort of the Driehaus College of Business and of Liberal Arts & Social Sciences at DePaul University. The mission of the Institute is to encourage ethical deliberation in decision-makers by stirring the moral conscience and imagination. The IBPE coordinates a number of programs annually that include the Vincentian Colleges International Conference on Business Ethics, and workshops for faculty and students. The Institute also is charged with auditing the status of the business ethics curriculum at the university, and benchmarking the status of compliance programs and their implementation in the corporate environment.

Wicklender Chair In Business Ethics

The Wicklender Chair in Business Ethics, a faculty member at DePaul, serves as the Executive Director of the Institute for Business and Professional Ethics in the Driehaus College of Business at DePaul University. Professor Patricia Werhane, Ph.D., holds the Wicklender Chair in Business Ethics.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Management □ Special Programs

Special Programs

The Brother Leo V. Ryan, C.S.V. Scholars In Management

Each spring, the Management Department designates up to three students who are Management majors as part of the Ryan Scholars program. Each designated scholar is awarded a tuition scholarship each term for up to three terms. Management majors interested in applying for this special recognition must be enrolled in a minimum of twelve credit hours per quarter and apply in writing to the department chair by the end of the winter quarter of their junior year. An overall GPA of 3.200 and a Management GPA of 3.500 are required for consideration. Eligible students will be interviewed by the Management faculty. The appointment is made by the chair of the Management Department with the concurrence of the Dean of the Driehaus College of Business.

Business Law

Courses in Business Law are offered through the Management Department. In these courses, students obtain a basic competence of the legal and ethical requirements and constraints of business.

Dominic Parisi Award For External Service

This award is presented to either a graduate or undergraduate management major who has demonstrated Vincentian values through voluntary outreach to their community and/or service to community based charitable organizations.

Dr. Curtis J. Crawford XCEO Personal Leadership Endowed Scholarship

This scholarship is open to two undergraduate or graduate students who have a proven interest in personal leadership in business as exhibited by coursework and/or extracurricular activities. To be eligible, candidates must:

- Have successfully completed or be enrolled in a course in leadership (MGT 360 or MGT 530)
- Compose a 750 word essay articulating his or her interest in, and commitment to, personal leadership in business
- Be in good academic standing with a GPA of 3.300 or higher

Candidates may apply by emailing their essay and resume to eespelan@depaul.edu.

Management Internships

The Department of Management also offers an Internship & Management Consulting program (MGT 393) directed by Dr. Helen Lavan. The Coleman Foundation has agreed to sponsor paid internships to assist technology driven companies in DePaul's small business incubator or community. These internships carry a stipend from $1,000 to $1,500 when taken for course credit through MGT 393. Internships are available in other functional areas such as human resources and operations management. These internships may also fulfill the Junior Year Experiential Learning requirement.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Management □ Management Concentrations

Management Concentrations

A student majoring in Management must complete at least one concentration. Current requirements for concentrations are listed in the Major Requirements section.

General Management

The concentration is for the student who wants a broad sampling of the various management disciplines. Management includes courses in Entrepreneurship, Human Resources Management, Operations Management, Leadership, and Sports Management, so students desiring a "cafeteria" approach would benefit from this concentration.

Entrepreneurship

The concentration is characterized by its contemporary, integrative approach to management of emerging firms. It is designed for students who seek to be entrepreneurs in start-up ventures, operate family businesses or work as entrepreneurial change agents within a corporate setting. Area faculty for the concentration are Mr. Raman Chadha, Dr. Lisa Gundry, Dr. Patrick Murphy, Dr. Gerhard Plaschka, and Dr. Harold Welsh.

Human Resources Management

The concentration is designed to meet the needs of students who desire to obtain entry-level positions in human resources, such as HR generalists, employment interviewers, and compensation analysts. Human resource professionals add value to their organizations by understanding how the business operates and through the design and implementation of human resource activities to meet changing organizational needs. Area faculty for the concentration are Dr. Erich Dierdorff, Dr. Dan Koys, Dr. Helen LaVan, Dr. Yvette Lopez, Dr. Wm. Marty Martin, Dr. Nicholas Mathys, Dr. Robert Rubin, and Dr. Alyssa Westring.

Leadership & Change Management

The concentration focuses on developing leadership and change capabilities in students at all levels in organizations. Students gain an awareness of values and the importance of vision, as well as how to empower followers to be active participants in change activities, in order to increase organizational effectiveness. A planned approach to managing all phases of the organizational change process is emphasized. This concentration will be especially useful to students who desire to move into leadership and/or change roles within organizations, such as managers, internal consultants, team leaders, or trainers, as well as external consultant roles. Area faculty for the concentration are Dr. Stephen Briggs, Dr. Ray Coye, Dr. Erich Dierdorff, Dr. David Drehmer, Dr. Laura Hartman, Dr. Charles Naquin, Dr. Margaret Posig, Dr. Robert Rubin, Ms. Sondra Simpson, and Dr. Ken Thompson.

Operations Management

The concentration prepares students in a variety of operational areas including quality management, supply chain management, purchasing management, Enterprise Resource Planning, scheduling and forecasting. Area faculty for the concentration are Dr. Nezhil Altay, Dr. Lori Cook, Dr. Kathy Dhandra, Dr. Gloria M. Fragoso-Diaz, Dr. Dan Heiser, Dr. Bin Jiang, Dr. Gilles Reinhardt, and Dr. Scott Young.

Sports Management

The concentration is intended for students who desire careers in sports-related industries including professional and collegiate sports, sporting goods, fitness and recreation centers. Area faculty for the concentration are Dr. Stephanie Dohrn, Dr. Margaret Posig, Dr. Gilles Reinhardt, and Dr. Scott Young.

Management Information Systems

The program in Management Information Systems is intended for undergraduate business students who plan to start their career as information systems professionals in either information technology producing industries or with the heavy users of such technologies. If they decide to take a minor in MIS, graduates will be able to function as liaisons representing their department or business function in information systems projects. This program is guided by several curriculum principles:

- Designed to educate management-oriented, technically proficient information systems professionals.
- Focused on requirements engineering and other stages of system life cycle requiring heavy involvement of systems analysts rather than on technical implementation stages.
- Complements a thorough understanding of business operations covered in the core undergraduate business curriculum. This combination of competencies is particularly important for systems analysts and makes this program distinct from programs in computer science.
- Designed according to current technological trends and is flexible to accommodate its adjustment as stipulated by rapidly changing and evolving information technologies.
- Includes sufficient training in technology skills in high demand to make graduates easily employable and immediately productive.

In this program, students will acquire:

- A broad understanding of information technologies and their utilization in private and governmental organizations
- An in-depth understanding of information systems life cycle and the nature of related phases and tasks from initial study through post-implementation support
- A thorough understanding of system requirements elicitation, analysis, documentation, validation, and management
- Ability to work with users and builders of information systems
- An understanding of information systems project management
- Ability to develop prototypes using visual programming technology
- Ability to identify organizational data and to design and manipulate databases
- Ability to integrate technical knowledge and understanding of business operations
- Experience working on team projects.

Marketing

About the Department of Marketing

The ultimate goal of an organization is to satisfy the needs and wants of its customers profitably. The Marketing Department offers a variety of courses designed to develop and sharpen student skills to analyze and solve marketing problems. Successful marketing requires the ability to know how and when to do research, how to analyze markets and behavior, and how to develop products and services that satisfy or even anticipate customers needs. The purpose of the undergraduate program in Marketing is to prepare students for successful marketing careers by teaching them the knowledge and skills to identify marketing problems and develop solutions that meet customer needs.

The Kellstadt Center for Marketing

DePaul University provides an education that emphasizes a pragmatic, hands-on approach with a strong orientation to application. Established in 1986 with a 1.2 million dollar grant from the Charles H. Kellstadt Foundation, the Kellstadt Center for Marketing Analysis and Planning strives to build solid bridges between the real and academic worlds. The center fosters a practical three-way partnership by addressing business needs, utilizing faculty skills and developing outstanding students.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▫ Marketing ▫ Marketing Concentrations

Marketing Concentrations

A student majoring in Marketing must complete at least one concentration. Current requirements for concentrations are listed in the Major Requirements section.

Standard Marketing

This concentration provides students with the flexibility to tailor their programs to fit a wide array of career interests. Graduates with a marketing major have many career opportunities in the various areas of marketing such as advertising, market research, sales management, or marketing management. The department offers electives that focus in each area. Majors may wish to group their elective courses with a concentration or specific career orientation in mind, although this is not required.

Integrated Marketing Education

The IME concentration is designed to prepare students for careers as marketing professionals. The curriculum features a highly innovative format that emphasizes doing as the basis for learning. The concentration features a real world focus built upon strong links to the Chicago business community. The IME concentration consists of a sequence of 3 highly integrated courses and an internship with a Chicago business. Students move through a lock step program of sequential levels encompassing information gathering and analysis, tactical decision-making, and strategic planning. At each level of the sequence, student teams will work toward the completion of milestone projects that reflect the activities of the marketing manager in a competitive environment. Skills and knowledge necessary for the accomplishment of each milestone are delivered in integrated knowledge modules by members of the teaching team. The Integrated Marketing Education curriculum incorporates a number of unique learning experiences. Each IME level has one or more Partner Companies involved closely in the work process for the students. All IME levels focus on instituting team ideals. One of the most critical concerns identified by the business community is that successful managers be able to function as team members. Much of the teamwork activity will be done in class so that the faculty and business mentors may evaluate teamwork skills and provide coaching as necessary. One element that makes marketing unique among business disciplines is the information used to make decisions. All IME levels will introduce students to the application of databases and other sources of information that marketing professionals use for decision-making. In general, evaluation will be based on examination and project activities. Students will be expected to learn proper teamwork skills; therefore, the application of these skills will be an important part of each student's evaluation in the program. A directed internship with a local business is an integral part of the marketing concentration. The department has paid and non-paid internship relationships with many local firms including advertising and public relations firms, Internet and social media marketing agencies, research firms, non-profit organizations and manufacturers.

Sales Leadership

The demand for trained and knowledgeable sales people has never been greater. Sales careers offer independence, ample financial reward, personal growth and opportunities for rapid advancement within the organization. The Sales Leadership Program produces business graduates who can sell by joining traditional classroom education with real-world learning experience. Classes are led by faculty with extensive sales experience and by sales executives from leading corporations. Students experience rigorous classroom learning designed to deliver the knowledge and practical skills they will need to succeed during the first years of their careers including: oral and written communication, selling technique and networking, use of technology in customer strategy and identification, and development of organization leadership in a sales environment. Successful students will enjoy opportunities to visit companies, take paid internships, and interview with leading companies for entry-level positions.

Career Orientations

Advertising and Promotion

Skills that lead to successful careers in Advertising and Promotion include: analysis of market research data; media planning; the creation of persuasive messages; strategic coordination of elements of the marketing communication mix; sales promotion strategies; public relations analysis and tactical management. Marketing elective courses for students interested in a career in advertising and promotion include MKT 320 Principles of Advertising and MKT 395 Internet Marketing. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path.

International Marketing

The international area of marketing offers students the opportunity to examine the economy and business management of many countries in their political, historical, and socio-cultural context. Students who concentrate on international marketing would develop career opportunities in international sales, international product management, or international marketing management. Students interested in international marketing benefit by enrolling in the following Marketing courses: MKT 320 Principles of Advertising, MKT 340 Marketing Across Cultures, MKT 352 New Product Development, MKT 360 International Marketing and MKT 390 Service Marketing. DePaul Marketing students may combine their majors with either a minor in a commercial language through the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, or with selected course work in International Studies. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path.

Market Research

Market research encompasses problem formulation, data gathering, data analysis, and communication of findings. An understanding of statistics, psychology and sociology as related to marketing is desirable. A student interested in market research will benefit from MKT 305 Market Research, MKT 315 Strategic Tools for Marketers, MKT 320 Principles of Advertising and MKT 352 New Product Development. You may consider the Standard concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path.

Marketing Management

Many chief executives of top U.S. companies have a background in marketing. Strong marketing provides a key competitive advantage in a dynamic global economy. The marketing management emphasis is appropriate for students with a general interest in planning, development, and introduction of products and services. Courses such as MKT 320 Principles of Advertising, MKT 315 Strategic Tools for Marketers, MKT 352 New Product Development and MKT 360 International Marketing are useful for students interested in marketing management. You may consider the Standard concentration or the IME program in Marketing to pursue this career path.

Sales Leadership

The demand for trained and knowledgeable sales people has never been greater. Sales careers offer independence, ample financial reward, personal growth and opportunities for rapid advancement within the organization. In today's economy, there are far more sales positions available, compensation levels are 20-40% higher than other entry level positions and sales positions are more stable in difficult economic times. A student interested in sales leadership could benefit from MKT 376 Effective Business Communication, MKT 377 Fundamentals of Sales & Networking, MKT 378 Sales Strategy & Technology, MKT 379 Leadership in Sales Organizations, MKT 381 Building Financial Relationships, MKT 383 Advanced Valuations for Business, MKT 398 Special Topics: Selling Professional Sports and MKT 398 Special Topics: Sales for Social Impact. You may consider the Sales Leadership concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path.

Category Management

Category Management is the practice of managing a group of related products as one category to maximize profitability. Successful companies expect their suppliers to act as partners that will help them grow their businesses, sharing industry expertise and consumer insight. We have partnered with the Category Management Association to develop a unique curriculum that will prepare students for careers in this rapidly growing field and lead to industry certification. A student interested in category management should take MKT 376 Effective Business Communication, MKT 377 Fundamentals of Sales & Networking, MKT 380 Science of Retailing, MKT 382 Principles of Category Management, MKT 383 Advanced Valuations for Business and MKT 398 Special Topics: Cases in Category Management. You may consider the Sales Leadership concentration in Marketing to pursue this career path.

Real Estate

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Academic Departments and Programs of Study □ Real Estate

About the Department of Real Estate

The undergraduate division of the Department of Real Estate provides a curriculum which enables all students in the Driehaus College of Business to work and excel in the real estate community at the local and national levels, and to adapt to future changes in the industry. It provides a strong foundation for students with career goals in real estate as the demand for qualified professionals in all areas of the industry continues to escalate with changing economic factors that drive the real estate market. Competence in real estate today, and the future, requires an understanding of a wide variety of professional disciplines and their interactions. As a result, the program reaches across academic boundaries of departments and colleges to provide a truly interdisciplinary degree housed within the college. The DePaul real estate major requires finance and real estate law courses, and provides choices in economics, architecture history, public service management, geography, sociology, history and anthropology.

Students who complete the program will :

- Develop a comprehensive body of knowledge that will strengthen financial and analytical skills, including risk analysis, portfolio construction and management, cash flow analysis, and investment strategy
- Understand the organizational structure of financial institutions and the impact of capital markets on real estate
- Understand the basic laws and regulations governing land use and real estate decisions
- Be able to clearly articulate a site development strategy to all parties and agencies
- Understand the historical development of real estate and its impact on present and future development patterns
- Understand how architectural and urban history provide insights into real estate analysis and valuation

Employment opportunities exist everywhere across the spectrum: ownership, brokerage, appraisal, design, insurance, inspection, leasing, management, and construction are a few. Property sectors include office, industrial, multi-family, retail, and hospitality and entertainment. Expanding the definition of real estate to consider the financial services side of real estate yields an additional list of career opportunities (mortgage lenders, mortgage brokers, underwriters, services, researchers, and others). The Real Estate Center assists students in finding employment in many of these diverse areas and industries in the associated supporting professions.

Centers and Chairs

The Real Estate Center at DePaul

To guide the direction of The Real Estate Center, our Sponsors, representing a multitude of prominent real estate firms in the industry, participate in executive-in-residence programs, serve as guest lecturers in courses and act as advisors on research and other projects of the Center. The governance structure of the Center includes a Board made up of chairmen of the five operating committees that represent the major initiatives of The Center: Academic Programs, Mentoring and Internships, Professional Programs, Research, and Finance and Development. Members from sponsoring organizations serve on committees of their choice and ensure that its goals and objectives continue to be met.

The Real Estate Center acts as a resource and network for the real estate community and for DePaul's students and alumni. Center sponsored events include a January economic forecast conference, a fall symposium on regional land use issues, and a series of continuing professional education courses and seminars. In addition, the Center regularly hosts the national meeting of the prestigious Real Estate Research Institute, which attracts prominent scholars, investment managers and the research directors of major institutional investors. Founding Sponsors of the Center, students, and alumni meet each June at a luncheon and award ceremony. Recent conference topics include mixed use development and managing the risks of sustainable building.

Douglas and Cynthia Crocker Endowed Director of the Real Estate Center

Created by the Crockers to ensure that the Center will attract a prominent real estate academic to direct its growth, that position is held by Susanne E. Cannon, Ph.D.

Michael J. Horne Chair in Real Estate Studies

Founded by a generous grant from the Michael J. Horne Foundation, the Michael J. Horne Chair in Real Estate Studies has been established in support of the appointment of a nationally recognized scholar in the field of real estate. Professor James Shilling has held this position since January 2007.

George L. Ruff Endowed Professor in Real Estate Studies

Dr. Charles H. Wurtzbach was appointed in January 2009 to serve as the George L. Ruff Visiting Professor in Real Estate Studies, a position endowed through the generosity of DePaul alumnus George Ruff.

Institute for Housing Studies

The Institute for Housing Studies, housed within The Real Estate Center, was established to collect data and conduct research on housing issues across the United States and internationally. Initial funding was provided by a $3.5 million grant from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. As part of this grant, the Real Estate Center joined a coalition of Chicago-area real estate, finance, philanthropic, non-profit and government organizations to launch a multi-faceted program to preserve affordable rental housing for low- and middle-income families in the Chicago region. As a partner in the Preservation Compact, The Real Estate Center directs two of its six initiatives. One is the creation of a Rental Housing Data Clearinghouse to track the status of affordable rental housing in the region using data from city, county and state agencies and other sources and to develop an analytical model of community change. The second initiative is the management of an Interagency Council working to improve strategy coordination and information flow among governmental agencies dedicated to preserving affordable housing that is at-risk.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▫ Real Estate ▫ Scholarships and Grants

Scholarships and Grants

The Center also provides scholarships for both graduate and undergraduate students and research grants for faculty. The following endowed scholarships are available:

- Michael J. Horne Endowed Scholarship
- Robert Weitzman Memorial Scholarship
- Kenneth McHugh Endowed Scholarship
- Charles H. Wurtzebach Endowed Scholarship
- Josie Carlson Memorial Scholarship
- Anthony J. and Jane E. Lydon Scholarship

In addition, the Center works with a number of professional real estate associations that provide scholarships to students as well as discounted registration fees for memberships and special events. Such associations include: REFF, SIOR, CREW, ULI, CoreNet and PREA among others.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Academic Departments and Programs of Study ▫ Real Estate ▫ Special Programs

Special Programs

Career Planning & Internship Services

Career planning & internship services are additional resources for students seeking careers in the real estate industry. The program includes job and internship postings, advising through real estate mentors, networking events with real estate professionals throughout the year, and hosts an annual Collegiate Real Estate Conference of six universities featuring over 50 real estate professionals providing career planning guidance. To further prepare students for the workplace, the Center provides coaching on resume writing and offers workshops on dining etiquette, interviewing techniques, and appropriate attire for the office.

Mentoring Program

The Mentor Program focuses on matching Real Estate majors with experienced real estate principals. Mentors help students identify such issues as career path, course selection, and introductions to potential employers. They also help students think through what skills are necessary for a successful career in real estate. The mentoring program provides for a series of meetings over a four or five month period, and is offered in two cohorts per academic year.

Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business

Degree Requirements

The Bachelor of Science in Business (BSB) provides the undergraduate student with professional business preparation through the Business Core, a group of required courses common to all students seeking the degree. In the Liberal Studies Program, a student is exposed to liberal studies education through classes taken from departments and programs across the university. In the major program, a student will pursue specialized coursework in an area of his or her choosing. Finally, Open Electives are courses used to explore additional areas of interest or work toward a minor or second major.

A minimum of 192 quarter hours of degree applicable credit is required for completion of the BSB. Requirements for the degree are comprised of minimum hours of study in the required curricular areas:

Business Core	74	hours
Liberal Studies Program	72-76	hours
Major Program	24-40	hours
Open Electives	2-22	hours
Total hours required	192	hours

While the BSB requires a minimum of 192 quarter hours of degree applicable credit, a student's degree plan and factors such as course selection, transferred credit, and major and minor requirements may result in a student exceeding the 192 hour minimum in pursuit of the degree.

A student may declare an intended major at any time and complete major declaration once eligibility requirements for the major have been satisfied. Requirements for declaring and completing each major are located in the section Academic Departments and Programs of Study .

While not required for completion of the degree, students in the college are able to pursue minor programs and studies in modern languages as well as opportunities for study abroad and internship-based courses. A student new to the college is encouraged to review possibilities such as these with his or her academic advisor as part of degree planning.

Grade Minimums

The following courses and requirements must be completed with a minimum grade of C-: ACC 101, ACC 102, ECO 105, ECO 106, MAT 135, MAT 136, MAT 137, Business Law, and Professional Writing. In addition, any course offered by a department in which a student is completing a major or minor must be completed with a minimum grade of C-.

Accountancy

ACC 101 requires the corequisite course ACC 100 Principles Accounting Lab.

Math

A student is expected to complete the math sequence in the first year of study. MAT 135 may be replaced by MAT 150 or MAT 160. MAT 136 may be replaced by MAT 151 or MAT 161. MAT 135 and MAT 136 may be replaced by the sequence of MAT 147, 148, and 149; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan. MAT 137 may be replaced by MAT 348 or MAT 351; if done, an additional Scientific Inquiry course must be added to the degree plan.

Business Capstone

Management majors completing the Entrepreneurship concentration must take ICS 394. Hospitality Leadership majors must take ICS 396; use of ICS 396 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors.

Business Law

Hospitality Leadership majors must take HSP 207; use of HSP 207 is limited to Hospitality Leadership majors. All other business majors must take BLW 201. A student majoring in Hospitality Leadership and a second business major must complete both HSP 207 and BLW 201.

Communication

Marketing majors and any students minoring in Sales Leadership must complete MKT 376.

Global Business Perspective

If the course used for GBP is also used in the major, an additional major elective or open elective is required.

Money and Banking

Finance majors and minors must take FIN 320 instead of ECO 315.

In meeting learning domain requirements, no more than one course that is outside the student's major and is cross-listed with a course within the student's major, can be applied to count for LSP domain credit. This policy does not apply to those who are pursuing a double major or earning BFA or BM degrees.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business □ Major and Minor Requirements

Major and Minor Requirements

For a student to earn the Bachelor of Science in Business, completion of at least one major in the Driehaus College of Business is required. In addition to the primary major in business, a Driehaus student may choose to complete a minor, an additional major, or an additional major concentration or specialization from within or outside of the college.

A non-business student interested in completing a major or minor in the Driehaus College of Business should meet with an academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs office to review relevant policies and course requirements.

Declaring Majors and Minors

Upon matriculation into the university, a student may declare an intended Driehaus major or minor. Once a student meets eligibility requirements to declare the major or minor, the student should do so. A student will complete the major or minor requirements in place at the time the student declares the major or minor or intended major or minor.

Primary Major within the Driehaus College of Business

For all students pursuing a Driehaus major, the following requirements must be completed:

- All requirements for the major must be completed as specified by the major department
- A student will complete the major requirements in place at the time the student declares the major or intended major
- The number of hours required for completion of a major varies
- Majors that require fewer than 30.0 hours for completion may necessitate completing additional courses to earn the minimum 192.0 hours required for the degree
- When majors require more than 30.0 hours for completion, the courses taken beyond the first 30.0 hours may be used toward a secondary purpose in the degree plan, such as an Open Elective
- At least one half of the major field coursework must be completed at DePaul
- The following courses must be completed with a minimum grade of C- unless otherwise noted for a specific major:
 - All courses completed from the major department
 - All courses used toward completion of the major
 - All courses required by the major department for declaration of the major
- A minimum grade point average of 2.000 within the major is required for degree conferral

Additional Majors, Concentrations, and Specializations within the Driehaus College of Business

For all students pursuing additional majors, concentrations, and specializations in the college, the following requirements must be completed:

- Courses may not be shared between majors unless specifically approved for such use by the programs involved. Notes on shared course use between Accountancy and Finance are found in the catalog section for each program
- At least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a second concentration or specialization must be unique to the completion of that concentration or specialization
- A course taken as part of an additional major, concentration, or specialization may be used toward a secondary purpose in the degree plan, such as an Open Elective

- Some combinations of majors, concentrations, and specializations are prohibited as noted in the requirements for the program

Majors outside the Driehaus College of Business

A student pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Commerce is allowed to complete non-business majors in addition to the required Driehaus major. A student interested in completing a major outside of the college should meet with an academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs office to review relevant policies and procedures.

Minor within the Driehaus College of Business

For all students pursuing a Driehaus minor, the following requirements must be observed:

- All requirements for the minor must be completed as specified by the minor department
- A student will complete the minor requirements in place at the time the student declares the minor or intended minor
- A student may not minor in a subject area in which the student is also completing a major
- A course taken as part of a minor may be used toward a secondary purpose in the degree plan, such as an Open Elective
- At least 50% of the courses used for the completion of a minor must be unique to the completion of that minor with the exception of specially approved programs
- At least one half of the minor field coursework must be completed at DePaul
- The following courses must be completed with a minimum grade of C- unless otherwise noted for a specific minor:
 - All courses completed from the minor department
 - All courses used toward completion of the minor
 - All courses required by the minor department for declaration of the minor
- A minimum grade point average of 2.000 within the minor is required for degree conferral

Minors outside the Driehaus College of Business

For all students pursuing a minor outside the Driehaus College of Business, all requirements applicable to the completion of a minor within the college apply. In addition, a Driehaus student must meet all requirements for declaration and completion of the minor as specified by the program offering the minor.

Dual Degree

A student pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Business is allowed to simultaneously pursue a second degree at DePaul University. A student interested in completing a second degree should meet with an academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs office to review relevant policies and procedures.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business □ Open Electives

Open Electives

Open Elective courses allow a student to explore additional areas of interest, work toward a minor or second major, and ensure that the student earns the minimum 192 hours of degree applicable credit that are required to complete the Bachelor of Science in Business.

For most students completing the degree, 16 hours of suitable Open Elective credit must be completed in order to reach the 192 hours minimum. If needed, Open Elective courses may be selected according to the student's preference; however, no remedial or preparatory courses may be used to satisfy Open Electives.

Depending on their major, some students may take fewer than 16 hours of Open Elective credit to reach the minimum of 192 degree applicable hours.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies □ Requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Business □ Business Ethics

Business Ethics

In order to instill an understanding of ethical business practices, a student is required to complete one course in Business Ethics.

The requirement may be satisfied by completing one of the approved courses:

- MGT 228 Business, Ethics & Society or REL 228 Business, Ethics & Society
- MGT 248 Business Ethics or PHL 248 Business Ethics

In addition to satisfying the Business Ethics requirement, MGT 228 or REL 228 may be used to satisfy a Religious Dimensions requirement.

In addition to satisfying the Business Ethics requirement, MGT 248 or PHL 248 may be used to satisfy a Philosophical Inquiry requirement.

Policies

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies

Course Prerequisites

A student in the Driehaus College of Business is expected to observe and adhere to course prerequisites. Prerequisites for courses are noted in Campus Connection and can include requirements for class standing, course completion and placement testing.

Given the sequential nature of coursework in business and the structure of major and minor programs in the college, consideration of course prerequisites is essential to successful planning and degree completion.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies ▫ Degree Conferral

Degree Conferral

Degree conferral is the official granting of a degree by DePaul University upon successful completion of all degree requirements.

Degrees are awarded at the end of each quarter. In order to have the degree awarded, all requirements must be satisfied, including:

- Submission of an Application for Degree Conferral in Campus Connection
- Declaration of the major (and minor, if applicable)
- Completion of WRD 103, WRD 104, the Professional Writing requirement and ICS 392 with a minimum grade of C- in each class
- Completion of all courses in the major and minor field with a minimum grade of C- in each class (even if extra or open elective)
- A minimum grade point average of 2.000 within the major and minor
- A minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.000 for DePaul coursework
- Completion of at least 192.0 hours
- Completion of the last 60.0 hours of coursework for the degree at DePaul
- Posting of all of grades in Campus Connection by the end of the grading period (five business days after the quarter ends)

A student who is nearing the completion of the degree should consult with his or her academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs office on the degree conferral process. An advising appointment may be scheduled by calling (312) 362-5358 or visiting DePaul Center 5200.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies ▫ Pass/Fail Option

Pass/Fail Option

The purpose of the pass/fail option is to encourage students to seek educational experiences in courses which are not required in the student's program.

In conformity with the university policy on the pass/fail option, students in the Driehaus College of Business may take only Open Electives pass/fail and then only in courses outside of the student's major or minor program. Only one pass/fail per discipline is allowed.

Degree seeking students in the college must enroll for a letter grade in all parts of the Liberal Studies Program, the Business Core, and in all major or minor program courses. Students must be in good standing with a GPA above 2.000 in order to apply for pass/fail and may take a maximum of one pass/fail class per quarter. Grades of A to D are considered passing grades.

Please refer to the Undergraduate Student Handbook section of the Course Catalog for the complete university policy on the pass/fail option.

A student must complete a pass/fail application in the Undergraduate Programs office for each course taken on a pass/fail basis by the application deadline published by the university in the Academic Calendar.

Questions about the pass/fail option may be directed to Undergraduate Programs by calling (312) 362-5358 or visiting DePaul Center 5200.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies ▫ Probation

Probation

Any student who fails to maintain a 2.000 (C) cumulative grade point average is on academic probation. A student is removed from academic probation when the cumulative grade point average reaches the required minimum of 2.000 (C). A student's academic status is reviewed after autumn, winter, spring and summer quarters in which the student was enrolled in at least 1 credit hour. A probationary student will be limited to 12 credit hours per quarter until a cumulative GPA of 2.000 (C) is reached. The student will not be permitted to remain on academic probation for longer than three sequential quarters (one year).

Students may discuss probation with an academic advisor in the Undergraduate Programs office by calling (312) 362-5358 or visiting DePaul Center 5200.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies ▫ Residency

Residency

The residency requirement states that a student must have completed the following work at DePaul University: the final 60 quarter hours of credit; one-half of the credit earned in the major area of concentration; one-half of the credit earned in the minor if applicable; all courses in the senior year.

A student who has been admitted to the Driehaus College of Business begins residency within the college as of the first day of classes of the term to which the student has been admitted.

Students in residence in the college, whether attending on a full-time or part-time basis, may not take courses or otherwise earn academic credit away from DePaul University without the written permission of the college. Permission should be obtained in advance of registration to avoid loss of credit or residency in the college.

Questions about residency may be directed to the Undergraduate Programs office by calling (312) 362-5358 or visiting DePaul Center 5200.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Policies ▫ Transfer Credit and Credit by Examination

Transfer Credit and Credit by Examination

Driehaus College of Business students are subject to the university's policy on transfer credit and credit by examination:

A maximum of 132 transfer hours (quarter hours) will be applicable to any undergraduate degree at DePaul.

This includes transfer courses taken at both community colleges and other four-year institutions. Of the 132 quarter hours, a maximum of 99 quarter hours earned at a community college may be applied to a DePaul University degree. CLEP, International Baccalaureate and/or AP credits combined with transfer credits from two-year institutions will total no more than 99 hours and combined with credits from four-year institutions will total no more than 132 hours.

More detail about DePaul policies on transfer credit and credit by examination may be found in the Undergraduate Student Handbook section of the Course Catalog .

Questions about transfer credit and credit by examinations may be directed to the Undergraduate Programs office by calling (312) 362-5358 or visiting DePaul Center 5200.

Academic Advising

All undergraduate degree seeking students in the Driehaus College of Business may receive academic advising in the Undergraduate Programs office.

Academic advisors are available to provide information concerning degree progress, curriculum, course selection, registration, academic regulations, and university policies and procedures. Academic advisors will also make appropriate referrals to help students in the use of college and university resources according to individual needs. Students are encouraged to consult their advisor periodically throughout the year.

In addition, faculty can assist in the selection of major electives and business electives which will best complement a student's major and career orientation.

The Undergraduate Programs office is located in DePaul Center 5200 and may be contacted by telephone at (312) 362-5358.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Resources ▢ Bachelor of Arts in General Business

Bachelor of Arts in General Business

The Bachelor of Arts in General Business (BAGB) is a joint degree with the School for New Learning (SNL) and the Driehaus College of Business which combines the SNL adult-learning focus in liberal and lifelong learning with the core requirements from the Driehaus undergraduate program.

The joint degree is open to students age 24 or older.

Please refer to the School for New Learning for additional information on this program.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Resources ▢ Basic Information Technology Skills

Basic Information Technology Skills

Prior to attaining Junior status, all students must know and be able to use standard computer software for business solutions. This includes understanding and using operating systems communicating through and navigating the Internet, and using word processing, spreadsheet, and presentation applications.

A list of minimum technology proficiencies may be reviewed online . The list of required technology skills may be modified from time to time.

Faculty who require facility with all of these programs expect that work submitted for assessment will meet professional standards.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▫ Resources ▫ Continuing Business Studies

Continuing Business Studies

The Driehaus College of Business encourages undergraduate students to consider further studies at the graduate level. The Master of Science in Finance, Master of Science Human Resources, Master of Accountancy, Master of Science in Accountancy, Master of Science in Marketing Analysis, Master of Science in Real Estate, Master of Science in Entrepreneurship and Master of Science in Taxation degrees may be earned in 15 months if a student enrolls on a full-time basis.

Students with two or more years of post-baccalaureate full-time professional work experience can also apply to DePaul's MBA program. The full-time MBA program can be completed in 15 to 18 months, while the part-time MBA program can be completed in 2 to 3 years by taking two courses each quarter. Students with an undergraduate degree in business can be waived out of some MBA core courses.

The MBA program requires between 12 and 18 courses, depending upon previous coursework. Most students with an undergraduate degree in a business subject are required to take 15 classes to complete the degree. The Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) is required for entrance into the Kellstadt Graduate School of Business and should be taken prior to the application deadline.

College of Business - Undergraduate Studies ▢ Resources ▢ Pre-Law Study

Pre-Law Study

Pre-law study in the Driehaus College of Business is intended for those students who, in addition to satisfying the requirements of a major field, also want to develop those capacities and skills essential for satisfactory performance in law school.

The Association of American Law Schools, while not prescribing specific courses for students planning to study law, has described certain skills that it believes essential for the later success of students preparing for a career in law. These skills are to speak and write clearly; to think clearly, critically and independently in situations involving problem-solving and sound judgment; and to understand business, social and political institutions.

Consistent with developing these abilities, pre-law study in the college provides students with an understanding of the background and operation of business institutions, with communication and mathematical skills, and a solid general studies education designed to develop analytical habits. Individual programs of study adapted to the unique interests and aspirations of students preparing for a legal career are designed with the assistance of the Driehaus College of Business Pre-Law Advisor. Interested students should contact Alexander Devience, JD (adevien1@depaul.edu , 312/362-6298).
